NOTES

Greece Will Extradite Hijacker to Bulgaria

Greek officials have decided to extradite to Bulgaria Dotsio Ivanov Gagov, the 28-year-old Bulgarian responsible for the 28 June hijacking of a Balkan-Bulgarian Airlines aircraft to Thessaloniki, Greece, according to a Greek newspaper. (See the issue of 1 July.) Greek officials reportedly will reject Gagov's political asylum request because they believe he has mental problems. Gagov told police interrogators that he attempted suicide by slashing his wrist three months ago while under detention in Bulgaria for anti-government statements. After this suicide attempt failed, he decided to hijack an aircraft at the first opportunity. (UNCLASSIFIED)

Palestinian Bombing in Jerusalem

About 10 a.m. on 4 July a bomb planted inside a refrigerator exploded among a crowd of shoppers in Jerusalem killing 14 persons and injuring about 70 others. The bomb, consisting of about 30 pounds of explosive, also damaged a number of nearby buildings. Officials of the Palestine Liberation Organization have claimed responsibility for the bomb. On 7 July Israeli troops, jets and warships staged retaliatory raids against suspected Palestinian terrorist bases in southern Lebanon, killing 13 persons and destroying a number of buildings. Trial of Additional Baader-Meinhof Terrorists Begins in Hamburg

A second phase of the Baader-Meinhof trials began in Hamburg on 30 June, when Gerhard Mueller and Irmgard Moeller went on trial for their involvement in several terrorist acts, including bombing attacks on U.S. military facilities in May 1972 which resulted in the death of four U.S. servicemen. Mueller was arrested along with Ulrike Meinhof in June 1973. He disassociated himself from the Baader-Meinhof group, however, in an interview with the West German publication Stern, in which he called Meinhof and Andreas Baader politically insane. Meinhof and Baader are currently on trial in Stuttgart (see the 24 June issue). (UNCLASSIFIED)

Conviction of Jewish Defense League Member for Bombing Automobile

On 14 July David Whitelaw, a 19-year-old member of the Jewish Defense League, plead guilty in a Los Angeles court to firebombing an automobile belonging to the brother of an alleged Nazi war criminal. His sentencing was set for 3 September. Whitelaw was arrested earlier this year a short distance from the home of John Artukovich in northern Los Angeles shortly after a bomb exploded under Artukovich's car. The JDL claims

Costa Rican Embassy in Washington Bombed

On 18 July the Costa Rican Ambassador to the United States narrowly escaped death or serious injury when a bomb, planted against the embassy wall, exploded just three feet from where he was standing. The bomb, which was hidden in the roots of ivy plants growing up the embassy wall, did little damage and caused no injuries. Shortly after the explosion the United Press International news bureau in Miami reported that a man who identified himself as "The Cuban Scorpion" called and claimed credit for the bombing. The caller stated, "We are responsible for the explosion at the Costa Rican Embassy....Our goal is to punish anyone who recognizes Cuba." The Associated Press news bureau in Miami also received a call which was substantially the same from a caller identifying himself as "The Scorpion."

A group calling itself the Scorpion claimed credit for the 10 May bombings at the Aeroflot office and the Mexican Embassy in Washington, D.C. Although it is not clear which Cuban exile group is responsible for the explosion, the Cuban National Liberation Front had been discussing possible attacks on Costa Rican targets, which were to take place during the OAS meeting in San Jose. (See the 15 July issue.) A detailed analysis of the bomb has not been received, but given the apparent small size of the bomb it seems likely that it was not intended to cause much damage. BSO Terrorist Released by Italian Government

Mulham al-Mamun, a BSO member who murdered an Italian employee of the Rome El Al airline office in April 1973, has been granted a release from prison on provisional liberty, according to Il Messagero of 17 July. The conditions for the release include posting a 30 million lire bond and signing a promise to remain in Italy. It can be expected, however, that al-Mamun will leave Italy, as have all fedayeen terrorists previously released on provisional liberty. The release was ordered on the grounds that the legal period for holding someone pending trial had expired. (See the 17 June issue for a report of BSO pressure on the Italian government to secure al-Mamun's release.) (UNCLASSIFIED)

Mexican Consulate in Los Angeles Bombed

A bomb exploded inside the crowded offices of the Mexican Consulate, injuring four persons and causing substantial damage. The same day a man informed the City News Service that the "Peace and Freedom Fighters" were responsible for the bombing and demanded the release of Cuban political prisoners and no relations with Cuba. This may be a cover name for the FLNC, which has been responsible for a number of bombings directed against countries favoring re-establishment of relations with Cuba. The OAS is meeting in Costa Rica to consider lifting sanctions against Cuba. (UNCLASSIFIED)
